

Mental Health in Uncertain Times: Fostering Resilience in Children and Adolescents

Join a panel of pediatric specialists from Columbia University and NewYork-Presbyterian Morgan Stanley Children's Hospital for an informational conversation on child and adolescent mental health in uncertain times. Our experts will discuss what pediatricians and families should know about kids and increasingly common mental health challenges, including:

- Depression and anxiety
- Eating disorders
- Marijuana use
- Suicide awareness and prevention
- Navigating social and learning environments, in person and online
- Mental health impacts of the pandemic & school disruptions
- Social media and its effects

Our team at one of New York's leading children's hospitals includes national leaders in all aspects of pediatric care with extensive expertise in child and adolescent psychology and mental health.

The conversation will be moderated by award-winning CBS medical correspondent Dr. Max Gomez. Attendees will have a chance to submit questions to the panelists.
